Brussels, 8 September 2015 – Leaseurope, the trade body representing the leasing and automotive rental industry in Europe, is pleased to welcome McLagan, a leading performance/reward consulting and benchmarking firm for the financial services industry, as its latest associate member. McLagan is part of Aon plc, the leading global provider of risk management, insurance and reinsurance brokerage and human resources solutions and outsourcing services.

Welcoming McLagan into associate membership, Leaseurope’s Chair Enrico Duranti commented, “It is great news that McLagan is joining Leaseurope. Their coming on board will undoubtedly enrich our associate membership base. Their specialised focus on human resources & rewards in financial services will be valuable for our members. It is critical that we continue to attract new leading partners and build up the range of services they offer with new areas of expertise that are beneficial to the industry we represent.”

Announcing its membership with Leaseurope, Sean Carney, Associate Partner at McLagan said, “We are excited about being part of Leaseurope. We aim to provide our vast experience across human resources and rewards for the benefit of Leaseurope’s membership through our proprietary compensation database of over 200 financial services firms in Europe, fact based advice and a number of others activities such as insights & articles, events, etc.

We bolster our clients’ business performance by applying our expertise and proprietary data to their most pressing business issues. Our belief is that accurate market data is a driver for aligning resources with opportunities. Analysis of our data may uncover market opportunities and areas for business improvement. But, developing the right strategy to achieve those goals efficiently and profitably is our core strength.

Over a period of time, we also hope to partner with Leaseurope’s member associations and their member companies to assist with any human capital requirements they may have. We hope to leverage financial performance information, workforce demographics and compensation data to provide accurate benchmarks to help them make better people and business decisions.”
